Overview

Join us to explore the future of roads in the era of sustainability and technology. This conference will focus on Pavement Innovations: From Decarbonization to Digitalization, presenting key strategies for reducing the carbon footprint in materials and construction.

It will explain material decarbonization strategies, sustainable construction methodologies, and the most advanced digitalization technologies that are driving the next generation of pavements.

Who Should Attend ?

The conference “Innovations in Pavements: From Decarbonization to Digitalization” is open to anyone interested in shaping the future of transport infrastructure, and is particularly aimed at designers, engineers, and pavement managers in the public and private sectors.
